

Trainer Biography

Kevin McCauley

Courses delivered for RICS Executive Education
The International Certificate in Leadership for Property Development

Experience/ Qualifications

Kevin heads the Central London research team at CBRE where he oversees the analysis of this market from occupier and investor perspectives. He is responsible for initiating and conducting research projects that support the existing business activities of the company and its clients. Kevin is a member of London First's Economics Panel.

Prior to joining the company in 2007, Kevin was a senior consultant at ECOTEC Research and Consulting where he led the London team's economic focused projects, including analysis of industrial sectors and property markets. Previously, Kevin was managing consultant at the Centre for Economic and Business Research and the primary company spokesman on the London economy and property issues. He also worked as an economic researcher at the University of East London / University of Leeds where he co-authored a series of articles on monetary integration in Europe.

Kevin is an economist by training with a BA and MA in Economics.